

EISENHOWER LEAVES ON WESTERN TOUR

Eisenhower Leads Nation in Peace Prayers

Appeal Receives Little Support in States, Cities

By United Press
President Eisenhower led millions of Americans today in prayers for peace.

His appeal for a day of prayer for world amity received little support, however, from state and local officials.

Many mayors and governors even confessed that they weren't aware of Mr. Eisenhower's request.

Only in Dallas was a special public observance made of the day of prayer.

However, in scores of other cities, ministers threw open the doors of their sanctuaries and citizens filed in individually to offer up their appeal for God to give men the spiritual strength to bring peace on earth.

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower arrived at the small No. 1 chapel of Lowry Air Force Base before 8 a. m. and listened to prayers read by Maj. Victor Pennekant, one of the base chaplains.

It was a short, fundamental service that lasted about 20 minutes and on the way out of the chapel, the President stopped to congratulate the chaplain on the simplicity of his observance of a national day of prayer.

Mr. Eisenhower set an example for the nation by going to chapel early today at Lowry Air Force Base.

Broadcast to Red Nations
In his proclamation, the President called for a day of prayer as "an act of faith so strong as to annihilate the cruel, artificial barriers erected by little men between the peoples who seek peace on earth through the Divine Spirit."

There were no reports of any employers giving workers time off so that they might attend church.

The President Tuesday invited people of the Iron Curtain countries to join Americans in asking God to bring men international good will.

The Voice of America broadcast the appeal to Communist nations. It is estimated that there are 80 million Christians in Eastern European satellites and 50 million in Russia proper.

It was believed that many non-Catholic churches ignored the President's suggestion for prayer today in favor of a world-wide week of prayer, to be observed early next year, by the World Council of Churches.

Council Commends Appeal
At Dallas, the city's busiest street intersection was blocked to traffic for 20 minutes so lunch-hour throngs could pause and join together in prayers.

New York Mayor Robert F. Wagner said he was in accord with the President's request and attended mass himself today but Mr. Eisenhower's proclamation came too late for concerted plans.

The National Council of Churches of Christ in the U. S. A. commended the President's appeal to its member churches, comprising Protestant, Anglican, Orthodox and other non-Catholic groups.

The Roman Catholic Diocese of New York said it noted the President's proclamation in its weekly bulletin and expected many churches to comply with it.

Jewish groups also participated in the day of prayer with the Synagogue Council of America recommending its observance.

Rushing Plans For Salvation Army Drive

Robert D. Rushing, local insurance man who is chairman of this year's Salvation Army drive, today was lining up his forces for the start of the campaign which will open Oct. 4.

In his appeal to the public to give generously, Mr. Rushing pointed out that "there is no crisis in human life for which The Salvation Army is not prepared with material aid, spiritual guidance and friendly, understanding guidance."

"Each year," he continued, "hundreds of thousands of men, women and children are aided over stony paths of life by the Salvation Army. They regain self-respect, faith, courage and health because you support this organization."

"No man ever sank so low but that he might rise again and be a man and for 74 years The Salvation Army has held to this motto in its work in the United States."

"Through your help, it has been able to aid untold millions and again this year we are asking all to give generously when contacted by a worker."

Mr. Rushing asked all persons contacted to give at that time if at all possible and not put off the worker, telling him to come back at another time, as the workers are ordinary citizens of the community who are donating their time to get out and secure funds for a worthy cause.

"Let us all give generously and promptly so that this drive can be completed in a hurry and so that the local post of the Salvation Army can continue with the fine work it is doing," he stated.

Second Lawsuit Settled in Circuit Court

The second lawsuit settled this week for $1,500 came about yesterday during the circuit court trial in which Clifford Pyle was suing Loren Hancock.

Pyle sought damages as a result of injuries received in an accident while riding in a car driven by Hancock.

Earlier in the week the lawsuit, Dallas R. Clary vs. Ebba Glen Franklin, was settled for $1,500 after much of the evidence had been introduced.

In yesterday's case, Pyle was represented by Atty. Arlie O. Boswell and Atty. George B. Lee, Hancock by Atty. A. L. Fowler of Marion and Atty. Trafton Dennis.

Today's jury case was another damage suit, Joe L. Gross and Dorothy L. Gross vs. Ralph Colbert, the suit arising from a motor vehicle collision June 30, 1952. Mr. and Mrs. Gross were represented by Mitchell and Roan of Mt. Vernon, Colbert by Atty. DeWitt Twente.

SIU Enrollment Nears 4,400

CARBONDALE, Ill. (U.P.)—On-campus enrollment at Southern Illinois university neared 4,400 this week. Six days remain for late registration.

Registrar Robert A. McGrath said 4,387 students enrolled in undergraduate colleges, the graduate school and the vocational-technical institute day classes by noon Sept. 18.

That was 27.1 per cent more students than were on the campus a year ago and 49.2 per cent more than in 1952.

McGrath said late registrants this week were expected to boost the total over 4,400.

He said enrollment in adult education, extension classes and the university high school would probably bring registration for all SIU divisions to well over 7,000.

Nixon, Stevenson Fire New Charges in Election Struggle

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon has slammed back at Adlai E. Stevenson's criticism of GOP foreign and defense policies and the Democratic leader has taken a poke at administration "expediency."

The top Republican and Democratic campaigners fired their latest blasts in the struggle for control of the 84th Congress in different parts of the Midwest Tuesday night.

Nixon said at Lansing, Mich., that the Eisenhower administration is dedicated to a goal of world "peace without surrender."

He said that it would be "easy" to "blunder into war" or to win peace "by surrender."

In a speech billed as an answer to Stevenson's attack on the administration last week, Nixon agreed that cuts have been made in foreign aid and defense spending. But by wise spending, he said, the nation is "stronger militarily than it has ever been before and we are capable of meeting aggression whenever and wherever it occurs."

Trusts Ike, Not Adlai
Nixon said President Eisenhower makes the final decision on what U. S. military strength should be and added: "I have greater faith in the President's judgment on this issue than that of Mr. Stevenson."

Addressing a "Turkey Day" audience in Worthington, Minn., today, Nixon said that the Republicans in the past 20 months had halted the drift toward socialism in the United States.

"We have cut government expenses, reduced taxes, checked inflation and stabilized our economy... while flatly rejecting socialistic methods..." Nixon said.

The vice president said the Republicans "have put the Reds on the run... and have brought a new climate of morality and integrity to the federal government."

Stevenson, the 1952 Democratic presidential candidate, told a party rally at Indianapolis, Ind., Saturday that American leadership in the free world has deteriorated under the GOP rule. He also criticized the administration for trimming military programs while the Communists expand theirs.

Charges "Expediency"
Stevenson centered his fire on other aspects of the administration in a speech Tuesday night at Bloomington, Ill. He pinned the "expediency" label on farm policy decisions by Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson and on the administration's dealings with Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.).

"Some Democrats have been waiting for the indignation reaction to such expediency by the Eisenhower administration from the GOP press, that had backed Benson," Stevenson said. "But I am told we should wait a long time."

He said the "official attitude" toward McCarthy "apparently has not been wholly based on what is right and what is wrong." He accused the GOP National Committee of putting McCarthy on the stump when his popularity is up and keeping him under wraps when it is down.

Classified Ad Reader Returns Lost Wrist Watch

A Thompsonville Daily Register classified ad reader found the Bul-ton wrist watch lost in Harrisburg between Carps Store and the Webster Pharmacy last week by Mrs. Charles Thorpe, 506 South Hill street, Marion.

Mrs. Thorpe called the Register classified ad department when she lost her watch last Friday afternoon and her "lost ad" which appeared in Monday's Register was read by the finder, who immediately contacted the Register classified ad department to say the watch was safe and would be returned to the owner.

Another lady in distress is depending upon a Register classified ad to restore her driver's license and family snapshots. That is Mary Beth Whitley Royalty, who lost her billfold while visiting her mother, Mrs. C. W. Whitley in this city. If the finder hasn't contacted her, he or she should do so immediately for Mrs. Royalty can't drive her car home until she gets her license back and she lives in Dayton, Ohio.

Mrs. Lizzie Reid Dies at Eldorado

Mrs. Elizabeth (Lizzie) Reid, 79, who made her home with a son, Andrew, at 2600 Carnahan avenue in Eldorado, died at 10:15 last night in the Ferrell hospital where she had been a patient for a week.

She was the widow of the late William Reid.

She is survived by the following children: William Jr., Ernest, Andrew and Mrs. Lillian Whitsell, all of Eldorado; one sister, Mrs. Hanna Houston, Bellaire, Ohio; nine grandchildren and 18 great-grandchildren.

Seven children preceded her in death.

The body now lies in state at the Bean and Tanner funeral home in Eldorado and funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Prepare Quick Senate Recall on Censure Report

Contact Senators' Offices; May Return Next Week

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—Senate officials began preparations today for a possible recall notice within 48 hours to reconvene the Senate—perhaps next Wednesday—to act on censure charges against Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.).

Senate Secretary J. Mark Trice contacted the offices of all senators to find out where they can be located during the next two days in the event the recall order is issued.

Informed sources said earlier that Democratic and Republican leaders of the Senate have agreed to take up the McCarthy issue as soon as possible.

Under the rules, a recall order must allow five days for senators to return to the capital. Thus, an order issued within the next 48 hours would bring them back for a session starting next Tuesday or Wednesday.

The leaders were reported to be hoping for a brief session on the McCarthy issue—possibly not more than two or three days.

Trice said he was not predicting when the senate leaders might issue a recall notice but was merely getting ready for the possibility this week.

There has been considerable speculation that the explosive issue would be postponed until after the November elections to spare candidates any possible political embarrassment.

But Republican Leader William F. Knowland and Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson are said to have agreed the issue should be faced without delay, regardless of the consequences.

When the Senate referred the censure charges to the six-man committee last month, it agreed to come back to act on a report on the fifth day after a formal call from Knowland and Johnson. A call Friday could bring the Senate back next Wednesday.

State Charter Issued for Local Factory

A state charter has been issued at Springfield to Advanced Methods, Inc., which is building and will operate the plastic factory being constructed in Morrisville.

The charter calls for the issuance of 2,500 shares of common stock, par value $100 per share. Listed as incorporators are Irving I. Hudes, William Katz and Barbara Houser.

The charter provides for the corporation to deal with "any and all types and forms of cigarette lighters and camping stoves of any nature and kind whatsoever, and all parts thereof, and in all lines, matters and things related thereto, or handled, used, sold or dealt with in connection therewith, related or accessory thereto and with all other forms and types of personal property in any manner whatsoever."

Larkin Ira Dooley, 85, Dies at Home of Daughter in Brushy

The Central Illinois Public Service Co. has filed acceptance of the city ordinance which provides for the company's supplying of power to the City of Harrisburg. The ordinance was given final passage Aug. 17.

Averell Harriman

Harriman is Nominated by N. Y. Democrats

NEW YORK (U.P.)—Averell Harriman was nominated unanimously today as Democratic candidate for governor of New York but only after a bitterly fought campaign that threatened for a time to split the party.

Harriman's battle with Rep. Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. for the nomination ended before delegates to the state convention had completed their first ballot.

With the count standing at 541 for Harriman to 217 for Roosevelt, the namesake son of the late President dramatically stepped to the rostrum and asked "that the nomination of my old friend Averell Harriman be made unanimous."

Harriman needed only 510 votes to win.

Roosevelt, who had carried out his promise to fight to the finish for the nomination, shook hands with the powerful party leaders who had opposed him.

"Let bygones be bygones," he told the convention. "We have a great leader with a great record. Let us be Democrats first, last and always and let us march to victory in November."

Harriman, New Deal trouble shooter in both the Roosevelt and Truman administrations and former mutual security administrator who opposed U. S. Sen. Irving M. Ives for the governorship. Ives is certain of the Republican nomination to succeed retiring Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

It was young Roosevelt who spearheaded a drive at the Democratic national convention in 1952 for Harriman for President. Roosevelt was Harriman's campaign manager.

Mr. Eisenhower was expected to exploit this same theme whenever possible, shooting back at former President Truman and Adlai E. Stevenson, the Democratic 1952 presidential candidate. Both have been pot-shooting at the administration recently.

McKay set the scene for the President's trip Tuesday in a speech at Cody, Wyo. The interior secretary said maintenance of a Republican Congress was necessary to continue "honesty, integrity and efficiency in government in place of the old chiseling, grafting and extravagance."

Prospects Dim For New Tax Cut

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—Prospects that President Eisenhower will propose a general income tax cut next year dimmed today with disclosure that the Treasury probably will have to ask Congress for another hike in the federal debt limit.

But the administration is expected to seek revision in the tax laws which would benefit certain persons, such as those receiving retirement income not covered by pension plans or income from foreign investments.

Other tax changes under study by administration experts would affect business mainly. They include revisions in tax treatment of capital gains and losses and of cooperatives and tax-exempt organizations, and oil and mining depletion allowances.

Officials said that odds are great now that another increase in the debt ceiling will be necessary next June 30 when the recent temporary hike of $6,000,000,000 expires.

The federal debt soon will go up to about $278,300,000,000 when the Treasury borrows $4,000,000,000. Further borrowing may push it up before Jan. 1 to about $280,300,000,000—approaching the temporary limit of $281,000,000,000.

GOP Caravan Here Tonight; Meek to Speak at Court House

Republican leaders today reminded the public of the visit of the GOP caravan to Harrisburg tonight.

There will be a speaking program at the court house at 7:30 p. m. featuring Joseph T. Meek, nominee for U. S. senator, Warren W. Wright, nominee for state treasurer, and Vernon L. Nickell, seeking re-election as state superintendent of public instruction.

District and county candidates also will be present.

Speeches Will Join Fight for GOP Congress

First Stop Will Be Missoula, Mont., For Address Tonight

By MERRIMAN SMITH
United Press White House Writer

EN ROUTE WITH PRESIDENT EISENHOWER (U.P.)—President Eisenhower flies west today to join battle with the Democrats in what the GOP leadership said would be a "hard fight" to keep Republican control of Congress.

Leaving the Summer White House at Lowry Air Force Base in Denver during the early afternoon, the chief executive's first stop will be Missoula, Mont. He planned to speak briefly and informally at the Missoula Airport shortly after 9 p. m. EDT in connection with training exercises for federal forestry service "smoke jumpers," the airborne forest fire fighters.

To Stay in Walla Walla
The President, traveling with Secretary of the Interior Douglas McKay, will spend tonight in Walla Walla, Wash., and Thursday morning dedicate the McNary Dam, a massive, multi-purpose power project high on the Columbia river between Washington and Oregon.

After the dedication he will fly to Los Angeles for a major political address in Hollywood Bowl.

On Friday morning, Mr. Eisenhower will speak briefly to the American Federation of Labor convention in Los Angeles, where the administration economic and labor policies have been belabored in recent days by the AFL leadership.

GOP Candidates Turn Out
Along the President's route, much of which the White House staff insisted was "non-political," were numerous GOP congressional and state office candidates, anxious to shake the hand of the party leader.

The President, after a political facts-of-life session Tuesday with GOP National Chairman Leonard W. Hall, was equally anxious to spread administration doctrine, however "non-political" the setting of some of his appearances might be.

UN Rejects Red China by 43 to 11 Vote

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The United Nations General Assembly turned today from the question of membership for Red China to the discussion of several territorial disputes.

The 60-nation world parliament also completed its organization work for this ninth session with a brief meeting to select seven vice-presidents—one each from the Big Five powers, Burma and Ecuador—and chairmen for its seven standing committees.

These officials, plus Dr. Felco N. Van Kleeffens of the Netherlands, who was elected president at Tuesday's opening session, constitute the 15-member steering committee. This group must decide whether such questions as the future of the Mediterranean island of Cyprus and the South Pacific territory of West New Guinea should be put on the agenda for debate.

Meanwhile, a decision was postponed until next year on whether the Communist regime of Mao Tse-tung or the Nationalist government of Chiang Kai-Shek should represent China in the U. N.

By a vote of 43-11 at Tuesday's stormy opening meeting, the delegates supported a United States resolution to rule out any move to consider seating Red China "during the current year."

The U. S. motion was introduced by Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. immediately after Soviet delegate Andrei Vishinsky proposed that the U. N. seat the Peiping representatives.

It is incorrect to speak of Russians as "Soviets" since soviet means a governing body.

Disaster Proof Farming Close to Reality

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (NEA)—U. S. farmers this year are demonstrating that they are a big step closer to the goal of calamity-proof agriculture.

Despite disastrous floods and droughts, which less than a generation ago could have been shattering economic disasters both for farmers and the country, the total farm output is going to be less than two per cent below the 1947-49 base.

The droughts of the 1930s which some farmers claim were less severe than this year, cut total output as much as 20 per cent below normal.

More mechanization, new emergency growing techniques, disaster loan programs and improved long-range weather reporting are all factors in the record strength and flexibility which American agriculture is showing this year.

Typical of the emergency activities in farm areas all over the U. S. the past summer are the events which took place in Iowa and several adjoining states last June.

The U. S. Weather Bureau in its 30-day forecast had given fair warning of a severe wet spell. When the rains came and caused much flooding, the regular planting dates came and went without the farmers being able to sow their important soy bean crop.

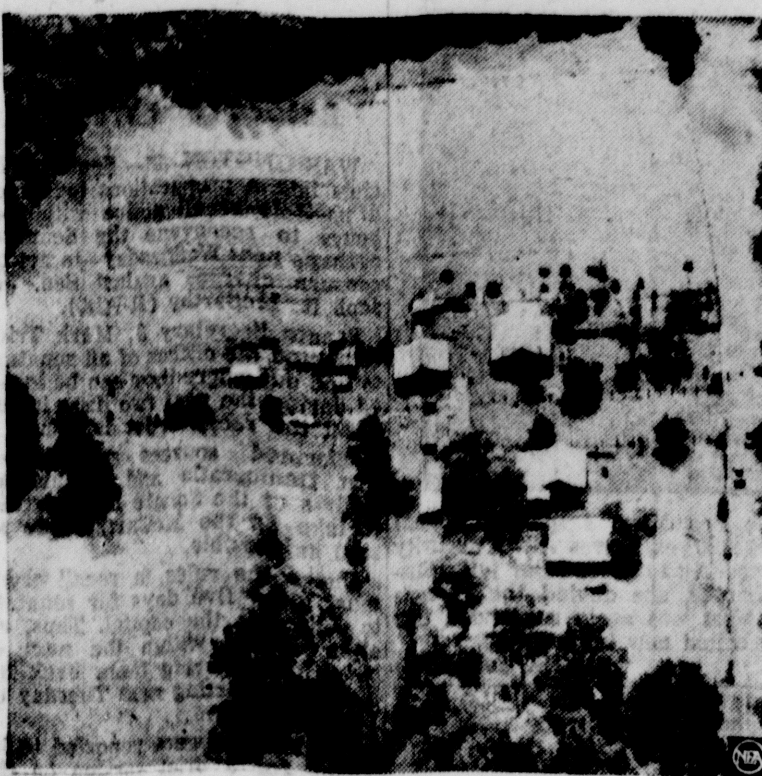

But the farmers were not caught flatfooted. County agents and other crop experts took to the local radio stations and began advising the farmers exactly what varieties of soy beans they could plant on what dates, depending upon when their land dried out.

Seeds for these varieties were located in northern states and special truck deliveries were arranged so that they would be available exactly when and where needed for planting. It worked out so well that total soy bean production is likely to set a record.

The southern plain region has had a devastating drought. But when delayed rains made it too

FLOODS OF DUST like this one hit farmers hard this year. But sorghum grain crops replaced many ruined fields of wheat.

FLOODS OF WATER left many scenes like this last June. But farmers weren't caught flatfooted by delays in planting.

late for planting wheat, many farmers were ready with special drought-resistant varieties of sorghum grain.

This resulted in 45 per cent more land being used for sorghum than last year, and less for wheat, but the farmers saved themselves from complete disaster. Sorghum is also a drought substitute for corn.

Stubble mulch cultivation, a relatively old but increasing practice, has also eased the strain of drought this year. This consists of leaving the stubble from the last crop on the ground and breaking up the earth beneath without turning it all over. It holds more snow on the ground during the winter, thereby preserving the moisture.

The whole southeast has been scorched all summer but many farmers in the afflicted area stayed off serious trouble by the late planting of special drought-resistant sudan and bermuda grass for silage or pasture. This could still be one of the worst years for feed grains, however.

All over the parched areas of the U. S. this summer farmers tried out a whole range of new varieties of crops intended for such an emergency, with great success. Diligent research by the U. S. Department of Agriculture scientists has helped to develop them.

They include Flynn No. 1 variety of barley; safflower, an oil seed crop; and castor beans which produce a lubricant for jet engines and resins for the new water-base paints. These and other plants need less than half the water required for most of the conventional crops.

Both luck and improved forecasting have enabled the Weather Bureau to give in its 30-day predictions advance warning of just about every serious drastic wet and dry spell. This, coupled with the great mechanization of U. S.

Capehart Hits Banks, Builders In FHA Probe

Says Hearings Should Help Guard Against Frauds

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP)—Sen. Homer E. Capehart charged today that the government and many home-owners were "fleece" by banks and builders who sidestepped the law to cash in on Federal Housing Administration loans.

"The pattern has been the same all over the country," he said. "There are a lot of good, honest people in the banking and building business, but there were too many who have been irregular."

The hearings by Capehart's Senate Banking Committee, which headed to Detroit today to continue its investigations, should help people guard against frauds, he said, and illustrate the need for "tightening up" the Federal Housing Administration law.

Capehart said FHA itself bore some of the blame because it exercised "poor business judgment." He said FHA "should have used a little common horse sense."

Pocket "Windfalls"

Summing up two days of televised hearings here, the Indiana Republican criticized builders who obtained construction loans more than the legal 90 per cent of cost, banks which granted home improvement loans without regard to propriety, and salesmen who collected on fake housing deals.

The committee charged thousands of builders started swank projects on a few hundred dollars, obtained FHA loans for more than the cost and pocketed the "windfall." Those with several projects normally set up separate corporations so if one project failed the others would be protected from sharing the loss with FHA.

"I am discouraged with FHA for allowing builders to have a multiplicity of corporations. If one project goes sour, the government takes it back and the builder keeps all the good ones," Capehart said.

"FHA should have tied it up so it would have the good buildings as collateral for the mortgage on the bad buildings."

Bobo Reveals She Lived Five Years By Pawning Ring

NEW YORK (AP)—Blonde Bobo Rockefeller, whose current assets include a recently acquired 5½ million dollar divorce settlement, revealed in felony court that she lived for five years by pawning a $30,000 engagement ring.

Describing the 8½-carat emerald-cut diamond and platinum ring as "the only valuable piece of jewelry I have," the former Cinderella bride Tuesday told the court, "I've lived on that ring for the past five years. I just got it out of the Provident Loan Co."

Bobo lost the ring Monday while moving out of former husband Winthrop Rockefeller's fashionable Park Avenue apartment, where she lived while pressing her suit for divorce.

Police found the ring in a packing case and charged a moving man with attempting to steal it, but the case was dismissed for lack of evidence.

Overcrowding is Problem at State Training Schools

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — Commitments of delinquent boys and girls to the Illinois Youth Commission in recent months have continued at "an alarming rate," according to a report by the commission.

"Overcrowding has become a major problem at the state training schools," said Eugene J. Czachorski, acting chairman of the commission. "The cottages at both St. Charles and Geneva are filled beyond capacity, and the youths are denied much of the individual care and guidance which would normally be provided for them."

"Our limited physical facilities, and the heavy loads our clinical staff is carrying, make it impossible to provide adequate counseling service or the intense treatment program necessary for rehabilitation of the delinquent."

The commission's quarterly statistical summary, just released, states that the present commitment rate was reached only once previously, in the peak years of 1929, 1930 and 1931.

During the first six months of this year, the commission received 527 boys and 133 girls from the courts of Illinois. Of these, 383 boys were subsequently sent to the Illinois State Training School for Boys at St. Charles and 75 to the Industrial School for Boys at Sheridan, while 69 of the girls were sent to the State Training School for Girls at Geneva.

Gibbons-Rister Marriage Vows Exchanged in Double Ring Ceremony

Mr. and Mrs. Jackie Lee Rister

Announcement is being made of the marriage of Miss Wilma Fay Gibbons, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Gibbons, Harrisburg, and Jackie Lee Rister, son of Mr. and Mrs. Seth Rister.

Vows were exchanged in a double ring ceremony Sunday, Sept. 5, at 4 p. m. at the Mt. Calvary Baptist church with the Rev. Robert Biggerstaff officiating. The altar, draped in white, was beautifully decorated with a large white arch intermingled with palm leaves. Baskets of white gladioli and palms and candelabra with lighted tapers completed the arrangement.

The bride was lovely in a wedding gown of white bridal lace over satin designed with a V-neckline closed to the waist with tiny buttons covered with satin. She wore matching mitts and carried on a white Bible white roses. Her fingertip veil edged with lace was caught to a tiara of seed pearls.

Mrs. Virginia Noel, sister of the bride from Louisville, Ky., was bridegroom, wearing a gown of blue taffeta with matching mitts and a headpiece of velvet. She carried a colonial bouquet of red roses.

Miss Mary Jane Gibbons, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, and Judy Rister, sister of the bridegroom, was junior bridesmaid. Their frocks were identical to that of the matron of honor.

James Leonard Hooten of Gary, Ind., served as best man, and groomsmen were Thomas Jack Gibbons, brother of the bride from Chicago, and Kenneth Ozment, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, Harrisburg.

Harold Laney, Harrisburg, was soloist, accompanied by Mrs. Bernice Cox, at the piano. Selections were "Always" and "O Promise Me" preceding the ceremony and "The Lord's Prayer" as a benediction.

Mrs. Gibbons wore a powder blue acetate dress with black accessories with a pale pink carnation corsage, and Mrs. Rister was dressed in a navy printed rayon outfit with navy accessories and a pale pink carnation corsage also.

A reception followed the wedding at the home of the bride's parents on the lawn. The reception table was centered with a wedding cake and decorated with a bouquet of flowers arranged on a mirror. Hostesses were Miss Shirley Johnson, Mrs. Sue Gibbons, Mrs. Peggy Ozment, Mrs. Beverly Hooten, Mrs. Anna Grace Cummins and Mrs. Gladys Partain.

The couple took a short wedding trip through the Southern states and are now making their home in Gary, Ind.

The bride is a graduate of Harrisburg Township high school with the class of 1952 and was formerly employed at the Illinois Brokerage. The bridegroom is also a graduate of HTHS with the class of 1947 and is now employed as standard checker for U. S. Steel in Gary, Ind.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Noel, Louisville, Ky., Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Gibbons, Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. James Hooten, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Hooten, Mrs. Grace Rich, Miss Jo Ann Rich and Alfred Haak, all of Gary, Ind., and Mr. and Mrs. Bert Downen, St. Louis, Mo.

Mrs. Henry Short, hostess to Junior B. W. C. Mrs. Henry Short, adviser to the Junior Business Women's circle of the McKinley Avenue Baptist church, entertained members of the organization at her home Tuesday evening.

The group met for the State Mission Season of Prayer program and to present offerings to be used for Southern Baptist work in the state of Illinois. Various members assisted Miss Jane Cannon in presenting the program, which was closed with prayer by Mrs. Denzil Simpson.

During a short business session plans were made to meet on October 19 at the home of Mrs. Doyle Hedger, and new officers were elected as follows: Chairman, Miss Raenelle Lavender; membership chairman, Mrs. Joe Harris; program and mission study chairman, Miss Jewell Agin; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Tom Fife; chorister, Miss Norma Cannon; stewardship chairman, Mrs. Simpson; community missions chairman, Miss Jane Cannon; adviser, Mrs. Short.

Preceding the meeting a picnic supper was enjoyed, with Mrs. Harris offering prayer of thanks. Present besides those mentioned was Mrs. Ken Ozment.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Thompson and family of Bankston had as Sunday dinner guests Mr. and Mrs. Grant Adamson and children of Monroe Center, Ill. Other guests during the week were Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Dean Fox and son and Norman and Carolyn Cooper of Michigan.

Yankee fan Mrs. Phil Rizzuto, wife of the famous ballplayer, is a ravenous young housewife of Hillside, New Jersey.

"The smooth-spread texture of BLUE BONNET Margarine makes a hit with me—as does its sunny-sweet flavor. BLUE BONNET wins on the nutritional score, too. Unlike most margarines, it contains both vitamins A and D. So I always insist on BLUE BONNET for all 3: Flavor, Nutrition and Economy."

Indians to Make New Try For 110 Victories After 9-7 Loss to White Sox

By EARL WRIGHT
United Press Sports Writer
Don Mossi, a 24-year old rookie left-hander, can make his fifth big league start a memorable one today because he will put the Cleveland Indians in the record book with the fabulous 1927 New York Yankees if he beats the Chicago White Sox.

Mossi's 5-1 record already has helped the Indians clinch the American league pennant. He has been used mainly in relief.

Mossi might have his work cut out for him today. The pesky White Sox snapped an 11-game Cleveland winning streak for the second time this season when they took advantage of poor defensive play to beat the new champions Tuesday night, 9-7.

That triumph at least temporarily stopped Cleveland's bid to gain its 110th victory and tie the American league record for victories in a season posted by Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig and the other 1927 Yankees.

Cleveland has four more chances to tie or better that mark. Jack Harman (14-7) will pitch for the White Sox, who already are assured of at least an even break with Cleveland because they start today's game with an 11-10 record against the champions this year.

Bob Grim, another 24-year old pitcher, strengthened his bid for American League Rookie of the Year honors Tuesday. Grim boosted his record to 20-6 and became the first New York Yankee rookie to reach the 20-victory mark since Russ Ford did it in 1910 when he pitched a four-hit, 3-1 triumph over the Washington Senators.

Jackie Jensen was honored as the Boston Red Sox' most valuable 1954 player and responded by driving.

Stengel Re-Hired As Yankee Manager

NEW YORK (AP) — Casey Stengel, who led the Yankees to a record-breaking five straight American League pennants and World Series championships, today was named to manage the club again for the next two seasons.

Stengel was rehired for two years under the same salary and bonus arrangement which can earn him $100,000 a year.

Next season will be his seventh as manager of the Yankees. He won the pennants and series championships his first five years and finished second to the Cleveland Indians this season.

ing in five runs to lead his team to 4-3 victories over the Philadelphia Athletics in a double-header. Jensen's 10th inning single scored Billy Goodman with the winning run in the opener and his three-run homer was the big blow in the second game.

Turley Sparks Orioles
Bob Turley pitched and batted the Orioles to a 4-3 victory over Detroit in a night game that clinched seventh place for Baltimore. Turley hit a two-run double.

The New York Giants, who clinched the National league pennant by beating Brooklyn Monday, again downed the Dodgers, 5-2, as substitute third baseman Bobby Hofman hit a grand-slam homer in the first inning.

In other National league action, Joe Nuxhall of the Cincinnati Reds shutout the Milwaukee Braves 5-0, on six hits, and the Chicago Cubs swept two games from the St. Louis Cardinals, 4-3 in 10 innings and 3-2 in a game called in the seventh because of darkness. Steve Bilko's two-run homer and Ralph Kiner's 22nd homer provided the Chicago runs in the second game. Rain washed out a Pittsburgh at Philadelphia twilight double header.

Weed Grows Between Bricks Atop Building

Waving in the autumn breeze at the very top of the store building occupied by Joe Gidcum's Furniture store, 13 West Church street, is a fully grown weed. The seed lodged in the mortar between bricks in the front of the building sometime last fall, sprouted and grew and is now a good sized plant, said to be "Lamb's Quarter," by the sidewalk botanists.

NEW YORK (AP) — Fraley's follies and the weekend football "winners" — along with a few random reflections on sports in general. Game Of The Week

Notre Dame over Texas — once-tested Texas has a real powerhouse and the Irish will have to be really "ready." But the word is that Notre Dame has too much all-around finesse.

Pro Commissioner Lashes Against Big 10 Restrictions

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — National Football League Commissioner Bert Bell said today the NFL will not "retaliate" against what he charged was a campaign of restrictions against professional football led by Big Ten "isolationists."

The league official also said the NCAA restricted television program was directed against Notre Dame because they were "afraid Notre Dame would sell its games coast to coast year in and year out."

Bell lashed out angrily Tuesday against recommendations by a meeting of colleges last June which would bar professional personnel from college press boxes and prohibit putting college scout reports in professional hands. He charged the restrictions were instituted by the Midwest group.

Bell said the Big Ten restrictions against pro football resulted from the league's televising of Saturday night and two Saturday afternoon games.

But he said "as far as we are concerned, we are televising Saturday night as planned. That's why they are afraid of us. We went through a long eight-week law suit alone, at great expense. No one came forward to help us. We said then and we say now, we are going to give the public all of the television we can."

No Coal Mine Deaths During August, First Time Since 1882

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — For the first time since 1882, when state coal mining records were first kept, a month has gone by without a fatal mine accident. B. H. Schull, director of the Department of Mines and Minerals, said today.

He said that during August there were 64 non-fatal mine injuries and no fatalities.

Schull said that the 92 working Illinois coal mines employed 12,200 men during the month and produced 3,097,899 tons of coal.

The 64 injuries brought the 1954 non-fatal accident total to 674. The total number of fatalities for the year remained at 18.

Schull said that tons produced per non-fatal accident during August was 48,405.

Scuttle Chiang, Attlee Says After Tour of Red China

LONDON (AP) — Former British Prime Minister Clement Attlee returned home today from a tour of Communist China and advised the West to scuttle Nationalist leader Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek and his Formosa-based troops.

"Personally speaking," Attlee said, "the sooner we get rid of Chiang Kai-Shek and his troops the better it will be."

The 71-year-old leader of the British Labor Party said Chiang's Formosa base is the biggest headache in the Far East "and a big hindrance to Chinese cooperation with more peaceful methods."

Illinois Grid Snapshots

SPRINGFIELD — Snapshots from the Illinois prep football scene:

Les Frith of Dwight, who was one of Illinois' leading scorers in the 1953 grid campaign, is at it again.

Frith scored five touchdowns to spark Dwight to a 43-6 win over Reddick in the season opener. His longest run was a 90-yard scamper across the Reddick goal line in the fourth quarter.

There were other individual scoring stars in curtain-raisers.

Bob Brassfield, Taylorville half-back who weighs only 139 pounds, chalked up 23 points in the Tornados' 29-0 rout of Decatur St. Teresa. He ran for three touchdowns, kicked two extra points and a field goal.

Keith Severson got credit for all but two of the points Ottawa recorded in beating La Salle-Peru 26-13. Severson ran for four touchdowns, the longest on an 82-yard kickoff return. He tossed a pass for one of the Corsairs' two extra points.

Chuck Boudreau dashed to three touchdowns for host Kankakee as the Kays thoroughly whipped Chicago Wells, 52-6.

Bill Barosik of Bloomington Trinity rolled up three touchdowns on a pass-lateral play, an intercepted pass and a five-yard plunge as his team downed Metamora 26-0. He set up a fourth touchdown.

Wilmington's Wildcats rang up one of the state's biggest scores in steamrolling Lincolnway of New Lenox 69-0. Nine players got into the scoring column for the victors.

Du Quoin and Johnston City both snapped nine-game losing streaks in their season openers. Du Quoin downed Christopher 19-7 and Johnston City downed over Pinckneyville 13-6. It was the first game Johnston City has played under its new head coach, James (Pete) Truran.

Elvin Carter, 315-pound lineman for Decatur Lakeview who rates as just about the heaviest player in the state, set up a touchdown in Lakeview's 19-7 win over Cerro Gordo. Carter broke through the Bronco line to block a punt. Lakeview recovered and scored a little later.

Oklahoma's Bud Wilkinson Named Coach of Week

NEW YORK — In a profession where worry is a watchword he is a "versatile pessimist."

Few football coaches have learned to worry about more things at once.

His Sooners now are rated as potential national champions but he'd sooner not have them so highly touted.

He is the United Press Coach of the Week, Clarence (Bud) Wilkinson, who is afraid his Oklahoma Sooners will get over-confident after their smashing 27-13 triumph over California in a big-time opener for both schools.

Already, he thinks they're over-rated.

"This is the most over-rated team I've had since I came to Oklahoma eight years ago," he said. "And I don't think that our triumph over California proved Oklahoma is any better than last year."

Illini Open Grid Play Saturday With Penn State

CHAMPAIGN, Ill.—Illinois opens its 65th season of intercollegiate football at 1:30 p. m. (CDT) Saturday, opposing tough Penn State in Memorial Stadium.

Coach Ray Eliot, beginning his thirteenth year, has assembled a probable starting lineup which includes only three regulars from the 1953 Big Ten championship team. Four others were lettermen last year, two are returning squad members, and two are sophomores.

The Illini were unimpressive in a dress rehearsal game scrimmage Saturday, and Eliot shuffled his lineup in rather wholesale fashion and decreed more hard work for the squad through Wednesday. Wally Vernasco replaced Don Tate at right guard in Monday's workout, and Dean Renn and Charlie Butler were nominated as probable starters after sharing first-team rating at end with Herb Badal and Steve Nosek. There also were several additional changes which did not affect the first team.

Saturday's probable starting line-up includes four seniors, five juniors, and two sophomores. Newcomers are Butler and halfback Abe Wadson, both of whom have been impressive in fall workouts. Other first team members: Renn, left end; Roger Wolf and Floyd McAfee, tackles; Captain Jan Smid and Vernasco, guards; Jack Chamblin, center; Em Lindbeck, quarterback; J. C. Caroline, left halfback; and "Mickey" Bates, fullback.

Caroline, Bates, and Smid were starters last season. Other first team members are relatively inexperienced.

Eliot's 1954 line is slightly heavier, but lacks overall speed of the 1953 unit. The backfield, led by All-American Caroline, shapes up as one of the most potent in the Big Ten.

Salukis Ready For Grid Opener, O'Brien Says

CARBONDALE, Ill.—Southern Illinois university coach Bill O'Brien today declared his Salukis ready for their Sept. 25 opener with Southeast Missouri after a rugged one hour and twenty minute scrimmage that packed the wallop of a mid-season game.

"The viciousness of the tackling and the fierceness of the blocking of both squads was gratifying and showed the type of conditioning and playing I want," O'Brien commented.

O'Brien didn't single out any individual but patted his whole squad on the back. The Reds, coached by O'Brien, defeated the Whites, piloted by backfield coach Jim Wilkinson, 28-0. Halfback Gene Ernest, Johnston City junior, scored twice and Quarterback Gene Tabacchi, junior from Auburn, and End Wayne Williams, Du Quoin junior, once each.

A definite weakness at end was illustrated in the session. At the moment the Salukis have two front line ends in Williams and Sesser sophomore John Gelch. Other promising possibilities are freshmen Marion Rushing, Pinckneyville, and Bruce Jilek, Benton.

The center situation is also a question mark in O'Brien's 1954 strategy. Big Kent Werner, 225-pound Belleville junior, is the only experienced pivot man on the squad. Giles Sinkewitz, sophomore from Belleville, and Vic Renaud, Christopher junior, are being groomed for the post.

Guard and tackle positions are more deeply manned, being two and three deep. Cliff Johnson, veteran senior from Cairo, and Joe Kalla, Chicago senior, both converted tackles, seem to have the inside track at guard along with freshman Carl Teets, Elgin, who is battling for the starting nod.

At tackle, veteran Dave Stroup, Carbondale, and freshmen Frank Lee, Elgin, and Larry Parrish, Crystal Lake, are looking outstanding. Letterman Ray Blaszak, Chicago, and Chicago freshman Pete Conset will provide welcome reserve strength.

The backfield has settled down with Capt. Jack Schneider, Glen Carbon, at fullback; Joe Yusko, West Frankfort sophomore, at halfback; Ernest at the other half; and Tabacchi at quarterback. Another quartet that has run smoothly is composed of Jerry Hart, West Frankfort sophomore, at quarterback; Bob Ems, Fisher junior, at fullback; and Hank Warfield, Evansville junior, and Ed Johnson, Punxsutawney, Pa., junior, at halfback posts.

Calufetti Prepares Bull Dogs for Opening Home Tilt Against Marion

Play Wildcats Friday Night in South Seven Contest

Coach Lawrence Calufetti this week was preparing his charges for the opening football tilt of the season at Taylor Field. It will be a South Seven conference opener, too, with the Wildcats of Marion the visiting team.

Southern Illinois university will open the 1954 football season Saturday, Sept. 25, in McAndrew Stadium against Southern Missouri of Cape Girardeau. With plenty of seasoned players and some outstanding freshman talent on hand, Coach Bill O'Brien of the Salukis will probably field a hard-hitting, colorful ball club. This is the annual Shrine game, starting at 8 p. m.

Gene Barrett, who would have been an Eldorado co-captain this year if he hadn't transferred to Carbondale, was a starter in the Carbondale offensive backfield last Friday night. Barrett was at one of the halfback spots. Carbondale scored something of an upset by holding a favored West Frankfort team to a 6-6 tie.

Football fans planning to attend the Illinois-Penn State season opener Saturday at Memorial Stadium are reminded that the game will begin at 1:30 p. m. central daylight time. All remaining Illini home games will be at 1:30 p. m. central standard time.

Illinois' famed marching-playing-singing football band of 175 pieces will make its first appearance of the season at the Illini-Penn game Saturday. Members of the band came back to the campus early for practice in order to be ready for a traditional half-time show, it has been announced.

Answers to The Sporting News baseball quiz:

1. Elmer Smith, first inning of the fifth game, October 10, off Burleigh Grimes.
2. Clarence Mitchell—also in the fifth game, October 10.
3. Johnny Antonelli and Sal Maglie pitched shutouts in the double-header against the Philadelphia Phils, April 25. Scores: 3 to 0 and 5 to 0.
4. J. G. Taylor Spink. Starting with the Series of 1910 he served through the 1920 series when Smith made the first grand-slam homer in Series history and Bill Wambamans the only unassisted triple play.

Eldorado high school has a group of runners working out at cross country and would like to enter a meet in the near future. This is the first time ETHS has had a cross country squad and the interest has been generated to a large degree by Junior Wood, transfer student from Equality. Wood ran with the Equality team the past two years and went on to place in the district track meet as a miler both years. The Eagle squad is composed of track men who do not play football, but were interested in athletic competition during the fall season.

Changing the St. Louis Browns into Baltimore Orioles was a good trick financially speaking, but wasn't much of an artistic success. Remember, there were many that said the players on the Brownie roster were strictly big league, but failed to give a winning performance because of the small attendance. Let them play before big league crowds and they would play like big leaguers. Suddenly the players were going to hit home runs, steal bases, field lawlessly, in fact WIN. The crowds were present in Baltimore, about a million, but the players played just as they did last year. Last year the team won 54 and lost 100 for a .351 average. With the 1954 season nearly over the averages show something like 52 games won, 97 lost for .349.

Dressen May Be Named Manager of Washington Senators

WASHINGTON Press — To say that Charley Dressen will succeed Bucky Harris as manager of the Washington Senators at the end of this season "may be a little premature," owner Clark Griffith of the Senators said today.

The white-haired, 84-year-old club president admitted, however, that he will go to New York next Tuesday and "plans on seeing some people about this thing."

Dressen, who piloted the Brooklyn Dodgers to pennants in 1952 and 1953 but managed Oakland of the Pacific Coast League this year, said in Los Angeles Tuesday that he plans on leaving for New York today. Dressen indicated he's headed for a conference with a new major league boss.

Calufetti was well-pleased with the defensive showing of the Bull Dogs against Murphysboro last week. When somebody mentioned that his line did a wonderful job, he remarked that he was just as proud of the defensive ability of his backfield men.

It was strictly a defensive game, with both teams showing up well in that department," he said. Coach Bencini of the Murphysboro team was overheard telling Calufetti after the game that the Bull Dogs last Friday night were the hardest-hitting Harrisburg team he had encountered.

Bencini this year has a veteran backfield that is supposed to be able to go, and it was held to a scant half hundred yards by rushing during the entire game.

Two on Injured List

Calufetti said he expected to field the same first string outfit against Marion here Friday night that he did at Murphysboro last week, when the locals lost, 7-0. However, he said, he had two regulars on the injured list at present. They are Ken Price, junior tackle knocked out of the Murphy contest in the second quarter by a blow to the face, and Ronnie Williams, veteran center who has an infected blister on his heel.

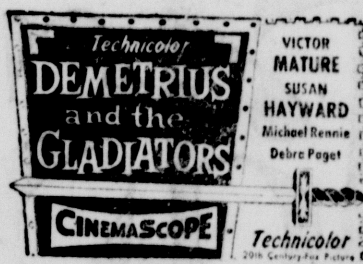

Marion has a couple of good players in Joe Wall, senior quarterback, and Dale Harris, senior end. Marion beat Carterville last Friday night, 21 to 0, which shows that the Williamson county entry, coached by Charles Mathieu, can score. In that contest Mathieu had six seniors and five juniors in his starting lineup. The starting line had Dale Harris, 166 pounds, at left end; Wesley Deaton, 160, left tackle; Joe Mathis, 155, left guard; Bob Ray, 164, center; Richard Wade, 170, right guard; Bob May, 188, right tackle; and Sam Brown, 175, right end.

Italian Police Guard Against Red Attempt to Topple Gov't In Drug-Sex Scandal

ROME, Italy (UP)—Premier Mario Scelba ordered riot police to guard Rome's principal squares tonight in a firm answer to a Communist attempt to topple his government on charges it protected prominent persons involved in a drug-sex scandal.

The Italian Reds were in full cry for Scelba's scalp.

They have been waiting eagerly for an opening to attack the short, tough Sicilian who blocked their bid for power in 1948.

Italy's "scandal of the century" has brought the arrest of the jazz pianist son of Italy's former Foreign Minister Attilio Piccioni and forced the minister's resignation.

But the sight of truck-loads of armed police in the alleyways near the Senate, Chamber of Deputies and Foreign Office removed the threat of serious demonstrations.

The long-smoldering scandal broke with a fury Tuesday night with the arrest of Piero Piccioni and a self-styled nobleman in connection with the mysterious death, 17 months ago, of a half-naked party girl.

Resigns From Cabinet
The jailing of Piccioni and the "Marquis" Ugo Montagna left Scelba's government and the pro-American Christian Democratic party reeling.

It threatened to drive more voters toward the Communists, who already control one of every three seats in the Chamber of Deputies.

The detention of the son of Italy's resigned foreign minister, Attilio Piccioni, and the phony nobleman followed a months-long inquiry into the death of shapely Wilma Montesi on Montagna's estate a year ago.

The elder Piccioni resigned from Premier Mario Scelba's cabinet last Saturday after his son's passport was seized. He was expected to defend Piero from mounting clamor rocking Italy and threatening to collapse Scelba's anti-Communist government.

Piero was picked up at his father's home near the Vatican Tuesday night on a warrant issued by Magistrate Raffaele Sepe who had studied the findings of Atty. Gen. Leonardo Giocoli's inquiry into the unsolved mystery.

Police went to Montagna's home to arrest him but he was not there. Three hours later he drove to Rome's "Queen of Heaven" Jail and surrendered.

A semi-official Italian news agency said Piero Piccioni had been charged with manslaughter and Montagna with abetting him.

More arrests were expected.

Next on the list was believed to be Prince Maurice of Hesse, a grandson of the late King Victor Emmanuel of Italy, and Francesco Saverio Polito, former police chief of Rome. Their passports were also seized two weeks ago.

Miss Montesi's body was found on a beach on the Montagna estate in April, 1953.

But Silvano Muto in his magazine, "Attualita," four months later said that Miss Montesi had died of an overdose of drugs in an orgy and had been left on the beach. He also charged that police were trying to avoid involving well-known persons in the scandal.

Salem Man to Head County Clerks Ass'n

SPRINGFIELD (UP)—Max Brasel, Salem, Marion county clerk, today was elected president of the County Clerks Association of Illinois.

Others chosen at the organization's annual convention were Patricia O. Conour, Lawrenceville, Lawrence county, vice president; Dan G. Brown, Monmouth, Warren county, secretary, and Herbert K. Hulson, Macomb, McDonough county, treasurer.

Springfield was selected again as the site for the 1955 convention at the close of the association's two day convention.

Building Program To Start Soon in Eldorado Schools

The building program at all three buildings in the Eldorado grade school system possibly will be in full swing within the next six weeks it was stated today by Ralph Slow, superintendent.

Bids have been opened and contracts signed for the work at the Jefferson school. Bids are to be advertised soon for the work to be done at Lincoln, to be followed shortly by advertising for bids on the Washington school program.

"We hope there will be actual construction work in progress at all three school buildings within six weeks," Mr. Slow said.

At Lincoln and Jefferson schools all purpose rooms will be built. At Washington a unit containing six classrooms, plus a building for an all purpose room, will be constructed. Building of the class rooms will be started first as it will not interfere in any way with the present buildings.

The all purpose rooms will occupy an area where the old section of the school now stands and this section, containing four class rooms, will have to be torn away before building can be started on it. This work, of necessity, cannot be started until after the close of the present term.

Authors Claim U. S. Develops Super H-Bomb

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has developed a "super-giant" H-bomb with the explosive punch of nearly 45 million tons of TNT and the "probable" capacity to knock out a nation, a new book on the hell weapon said today.

The authors, James R. Shepley and Clay Blair Jr. of Time Magazine, reported that the estimated power of the bomb is so awesome that officials decided not to risk setting it off during the Eniwetok tests this spring.

When the first bomb fired during the tests released more than twice the destructive power that the scientists had anticipated, Shepley and Blair said, the estimated strength of the "super-giant" was scaled sharply upward, "near the practicable limit of thermonuclear weapons, 45 megatons, 2,400 times the force of Hiroshima."

The government has never said publicly how much power it thinks the big bomb packs. But informed sources revealed last May that it was officially rated at between 40- and 45 million tons.

"More Than Probable" "It seems doubtful that any people actually could survive the shock of a 1,000 'obsolete' 500-kiloton (500,000-ton) bombs," Shepley and Blair wrote. "It seems more than probable that no people could survive if one substitutes in the equation the potential 45 megatons of the thermonuclear bomb."

The book, "The Hydrogen Bomb," will not be published until Sept. 30. But a copyrighted, condensed version—printed in the U. S. News & World Report—was made public Monday night.

In their account of the H-bomb's development, the two authors asserted that Russia went out ahead of the United States in 1953 largely because of a political struggle among some of America's leading atomic scientists and administrators.

Blame Dr. Oppenheimer They laid most of the blame for the delay at the door of Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer, famed father of the atomic bomb who was recently dropped as an Atomic Energy Commission consultant after being ruled a security risk.

They said he was "tragically and frustratingly" wrong in his advice about the feasibility of the H-bomb. He and his supporters, they wrote, "almost destroyed" the balance of power between the United States and Russia, although they later supported the H-bomb program when the weapon's practicality had been proved.

Red Navy is Catching Up

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT
In all our calculations of American military might, we properly put first emphasis upon our acknowledge lead in nuclear weapons. But ever since World War II we have also taken it pretty much for granted that in any future war the United States would surely have control of the seas.

No one has been blind to the tremendous growth of Russia's submarine fleet, but it has been just as plain that our total naval forces were vastly superior to Moscow's.

Therefore, it comes as a definite shock to hear from no less a source than our own Navy that the Soviet Union may supplant this country as the top naval power by 1964 if its present pace of naval expansion — relative to our development — continues.

Looking at the huge land armies
Russia can muster, we have comforted ourselves with the thought that whatever edge the Soviets have there we could take off by our clear advantage on the seas and in the air.

As we have seen in other recent reports, our margin of air superiority may be dwindling. To learn that our naval edge is also diminishing is not easy to take.

Ten years ago Russia's fleet ranked seventh in the world. Today it stands second. The Russian navy already exceeds America's in manpower. And Moscow is bent on passing us in number of vessels
as well.

The Soviet sub fleet of some 350, about 40 per cent of which are long-range types, is nothing terribly new to us. But read these figures released by our own Navy:

In cruisers, Russia has 13 large, light ships matching the best we have. This total is greater than that we have presently active.

The Soviets have 125 destroyers against our 175, but more than 50 of Russia's are fast, well-armed craft built since World War II. We have done little in that spar II.
Moscow has a larger building program for destroyers than all Western navies combined.

Where we still retain a decisive superiority is in aircraft carriers.
So far as is known, Russia has none at this time, though it has a number of shipyards capable of building them, as well as the large-est battlefleets.

Russia does have, however, some 3500 land-based planes in its fleet air arm, including many jet fighters and light jet bombers.

The U. S. Navy noted that Russia's fleet has four main divisions, with the largest in the Baltic Sea.
A newly developed canal and river system makes it possible to shift many smaller naval craft from one operating theater to another under ideal protection.

Our strategists believe that Russia, the great "land" force, is definitely bent on creating a great deep-sea navy to outstrip any in the world.

To those complacent ones who think we can never be headed on the sea or in the air, to those misguided ones who think Russia is devoted to peace and has abandoned plans for world conquest, we recommend a second reading of these estimates. They are not comforting.

DREW PEARSON Says:
Navy's Rocket-Launching
Program Delayed; Atomic Energy Commission Should Be Investigated; AEC Fudges On Truth About Power.

WASHINGTON — With the next war likely to be one of trans-Atlantic rockets, and with Russia reported well ahead in the rocket field, the Navy is months behind in its construction of a rocket-launching platform at Dahlgren,
Va.

The Navy has done some amazing pioneer work in developing rockets. But you can't launch rockets without launching platforms, and the platform for the latest supersecret rocket and guided-missile program is now nearly six months behind. It was due to be finished on March 28, but it is still not completed.

Here is the inside story of what's been happening. The track that carries the rocket on its initial course must be absolutely straight.
The rocket travels at a speed of two to three times the speed of sound, and any vibration due to a variation in the track might shake the launching base apart.

But the battleship admirals were not willing to spare enough nickel steel for the launching track. Instead, the nickel steel has been used for armor plate. In other words, it's the old story of the rivary between the battleship admirals and the air admirals all over again.

Curtis Builders, who got the contract from the Navy for $1,668,700, sublet the job of machining the track to Parkersburg Die and Tool Co., of Parkersburg, W. Va. As early as March 22, 1953, more than a year ago, however, Loren Thompson, head of the Parkersburg company, wrote a letter to the Navy.

"For the time being and until further examination can be made," he warned, "we are advising you that the material as furnished is unsuitable for rocket launcher track as designs and blue-prints now specify."

What he referred to was the fact that U. S. Steel had supplied a commercial grade of stainless steel instead of nickel steel, as originally specified. However, the Navy had pre-empted the nickel steel for armor plate.

INTERESTING ALIBIS

Checking on reasons for the long delay in building a vitally important installation, this column got the following comment:

Steven Nesbitt, spokesman for the Parkersburg company: "You can't make a launcher out of bun-steel. We wrote the Navy and ask them how to proceed, and they don't answer."

John Krytusa, head of Curtis Builders: "I can't comment. I couldn't tell you anything until I talked to the Navy."

Comdr. H. L. Haworth, speaking for the Navy: "I won't comment. You have no call to write anything about this for at least three months. Then we'll know what mistakes we've made."

"If this story gets out," he added, "it will cost the taxpayers money. We'll have to write letters and answer questions. It will just add to the confusion around here."

However, the months continue to drag by and one of the Navy's most important test projects also continues to drag. So perhaps it would be better to have the Navy use up a little stationery answering letters and thereby help get to the bottom of things. At least, the Navy won't have to pay for the postage.

PROBE OF AEC NEEDED

Two supersensitive agencies hitherto beyond the pale of investigation are the Atomic Energy Commission and the Central Intelligence Agency. For obvious reasons many of their secrets must always remain secret.

However, Gen. Mark Clark, one of the ablest of our retired military officers, is now making a confidential survey of CIA, and it might be a good idea if there was a probe, not of atomic secrets but of atomic efficiency and honesty in the Atomic Energy Commission.

For instance, the AEC has been caught in flagrant disregard of other government agencies, also in flagrant disregard of the truth. It did not and would not give the Tennessee Valley Authority a copy of the vitally important Dixon-Yates contract until acting TVA Chairman Harry A. Curtis publicly blasted the AEC for withholding it.
The TVA is required to sign the Dixon-Yates contract, yet Admiral Strauss and the AEC not only negotiated secretly for the contract which TVA had to sign, but withheld a copy.

On top of this, the AEC has now been caught in a cold lie regarding concessions to two other private power companies.

Most people think it is a new thing for the AEC to buy private power in the Tennessee valley area. But it isn't. One year ago, Senate Bourke Hickenlooper asked Senate permission for the AEC not only to buy 5,500,000 kilowatts of power from the Ohio Electric Corporation and Electric Energy, Inc., but to raise the limit on the amount of money the government could guarantee the companies if AEC later bought its power elsewhere.

At that time, Senator Morse of Oregon asked whether the two private companies were being given quickie tax amortization by the government. He felt that if they were being given the privilege of writing off the cost of new plants in a hurry, they should not be given a government guarantee on the building of new plants.

AEC COVERED UP

To this, the Atomic Energy Commission replied in a letter to Senator Hickenlooper:

"No certificate for rapid amor-tization under the revenue act of 1950 has been issued to either OVEC or EEI (Ohio Valley Electric Corp., and Electric Energy, Inc.). The utilities have indicated that they have no plans to request such a certificate. The contracts with OVEC and EEI provide for amortization of the new generating stations and transmission lines on a 25-year basis."

However, all Senator Hickenlooper had to do was go down to the Office of Defense Mobilization, as this reporter did, to see that the Atomic Energy Commission was not telling him the truth.

The AEC letter to him was dated July 8, 1953. But two months before, on April 27, 1953, Ohio Valley Electric had applied for quickie tax amortization on $174,921,000 for its Cheshire, Ohio, plant, while its wholly owned subsidiary, Indiana-Kentucky Electric, had applied for rapid amortization on $172,389,- 000 for its Clifty Creek plant in Madison, Ind.

On top of this, Electric Energy,
Inc., had applied for $191,000,000 worth of quickie tax amortization on its Joppa plant as far back as Aug. 14, 1951. This was more than two years before the AEC told Hickenlooper that the company had "no plans" for requesting such tax relief.

As a matter of fact, the above applications are still pending — for an interesting reason. Defense Mobilization finally decided that power companies did not need quickie tax relief for war purposes and on Dec. 3, 1953, suspended all concessions. Perhaps that was why Admiral Strauss and the AEC came forward with a new gimmick on behalf of Dixon-Yates, namely a provision whereby the AEC would pay federal taxes for the power company. In other words, one branch of Uncle Sam's government would pay taxes to another branch of Uncle Sam's government on behalf of a private power company.

ulation of more than 2,000,000, is

Short, Delicate Heel in Favor in New Shoes

Fashion presents an open and shut case for autumn's new shoes. The pump in calf leather (upper left) has long, slim line and tapered toe paired with short heel. Throat has criss-cross overlap design. Coal black suede (upper center) is used for open sandal with closed toe and asymmetrical banding. Dancing shoe (upper right) is in brilliant iridescent red kid. The triple striping is carried up and around the ankle to form a sling back opening. Leather texture in a monochromatic look (lower left) appears in the opera pump. Here, three leathers are used, with taupe suede for body and heel of the shoe and alligator and calf for cut underlays. Closed look in stripping sandal (lower center) creates effect of tapered toe and high throat-line. These are brilliant blue kid. Magic mule (lower right) hugs the foot because of its elasticized raised inner sole. These washed-gold mules are worn with black velvet tunic and pants for dressy at-home evenings. Textured leathers are new to shoes this fall.

Comfort and Elegance Feature Fall Fashions by Local Stores

Fall Fashions have taken over the "shoplight" in Harrisburg's up-to-the-minute style-minded stores, and all Southeastern Illinois residents are invited to come and view the autumn parade of fashions appearing in the various stores.

This year the emphasis centers on comfort that combines with elegance and color to give Fall and Winter clothing a casual smartness.

For women the fashion picture trends toward comfortable clothes with styles constructed toward the modern, active way of living. It breathes a casualness that includes elegance and beauty. Lines are simple and economical, yet there is great finesse in cut and detail. For the first time in years fashion embraces styles that women like to wear and that are becoming almost every figure. Color is a fashion keynote in vibrant shades and new "off-beat" combinations.

A supple silhouette makes top dress news. The knit dress reaches new heights in '54, and Fall also features the coat dress, simple and outstanding. Suits are many and varied, with styling that identifies each as definitely "this season" with the graceful, easier cut in almost every design.

Fall hats are higher, wider and handsomer drape. Shoes boast of new colors, greater flexibility and a variety of silhouettes.

The princess line continues to be an important junior fashion. The coat dress is also popular and appears in tweeds and novelty woolsens. A general lightness in weight marks fall fashion shoes for the younger set. Little boys are "in the pink and black" just like their big brothers.

Men's clothing also shows the trend to comfort and elegance. This is reflected in both the deeper, richer shades and lightweight fabrics. Prominent in the Fall color picture are blackish greys, blues and browns.

The leading suit cut is single-breasted with medium width lapels. Topcoats are more formal, cut squarer, falling from square, inset sleeve shoulders. New hats are lighter, in looks and weight, crowns are smaller, narrower and more tapered.

Even sportswear reflects the "darker look" especially in coats. To offset dark colors, brightly colored shirts, ties, socks and vests will be featured to enliven the ensemble. Jackets and sweaters

Mrs. Alta Norman Hostess To Pankeyville Naomi Class

The Naomi Ruth Sunday school class of the Pankeyville Baptist church met Friday night at the home of Mrs. Alta Norman for the regular social.

Mrs. Ruth Gates, class president, was in charge of the meeting which was opened with the group singing "I Am Thine O Lord." Mrs. Bettie Norman led in prayer and Miss Gertrude Wasson gave the devotion, reading from Exodus the fourth chapter, basing her remarks on the scripture "What is that in thine hand?"

The following officers were elected for the coming year: Mrs. Oma Myers, assistant teacher; Mrs. Blanche Lauderdale, president; Mrs. Ruth Gates, vice president; Mrs. Alta Norman, secretary and treasurer; Miss Gertrude Wasson, publicity; Mrs. Myers and Mrs. Lois Horner, group captains; Mrs. Norman, Mrs. Gates and Mrs. Blanche Shacklett, flower committee.

Mrs. Fannie Owens, who has been unable to attend Sunday school for the past four months and who is able to be up and about in her home, is going to contact the absentees each week by telephone calls and written reminders.

Mrs. Lauderdale was in charge of the recreation and Mrs. Hattie Meyer received a prize in a contest. Mrs. Gates assisted Mrs. Norman in serving refreshments to the group.

Methodist Busy Women's Class Has Potluck Supper

The Busy Women's Bible class of the First Methodist church resumed its fall social activities recently with a potluck supper in the back yard of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Melven.

Members of the Men's class were especially invited guests. Mrs. Melven is the teacher of the women's class and Mr. Melven is the teacher of the men's class. Everyone enjoyed the good food and the fellowship which followed. Games were conducted by Mrs. Clyde Harding.

W. E. Musgrove, CIPS local chairman, has been ill at his residence in this city since Sept. 5.

Illinois Education Association Urges Democrats to Favor More Aid to Schools

By DON CHAMBERLAIN
SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—(Special)—Legislative programs of such groups as the teachers, tax payers, labor and sportsmen, are taking on tangible shape. This was disclosed last week when representatives of various organizations appeared before a Democratic State Platform committee to advocate ideas they thought should be put into platform planks.

The teachers, represented by Claude E. Vick, Springfield, representing the Illinois Education association, asked the Democrats to record themselves in favor of increased state aid to schools. Vick urged the Democrats to go on record as favoring a deficiency appropriation which would bring state aid up to the level of financial assistance sought in the 1953 General Assembly.

Vick said the Illinois school problem is more critical now than it was two years ago. He said the schools are catching up with the birthrate of the forties and that more pupils are staying in school than usually drop out. He favored a school district authority to build schools and said that salaries are not high enough to attract good teachers.

The ideal state aid, Vick said, would be $238 per pupil as compared with the $173 now being paid. Vick had no suggestions as to how to raise additional funds except to say he had heard suggestions for an extra one cent sales tax, a graduated income tax or increased local property taxes. The legislature appropriated $139,000,000 for the common school fund last year.

George Mahin, Springfield, executive secretary of the Taxpayers Federation of Illinois, urged the Democrats to declare that the taxpayers be given their "money's worth" from government and for a declaration against granting new or increased taxing powers to local governments without referendum.

Mahin sees the possibility of the 1955 session of the General Assembly omitting any increased taxes but said that chances of increased taxes in the 1957 Assembly are "pretty strong." He asked the Democrats to oppose legislation containing mandatory proposals to require or result in new or increased expenditures by local governments unless the state supplies the funds.

Organized labor through R. G. Sowerstrom, Streator, president of the Illinois State Federation of Labor (AFL), called for an Equal Job Opportunity law, increased unemployment insurance (he suggested it be $38 a week), improvement of occupational and workmen's compensation laws; increased safety in industry; and for secret primaries.

Leonard J. Schwartz, Edwardsville, former director of the state conservation department, urged land classification tax relief on submarginal land; proper land use such as erection of trees on submarginal land to stop erosion and increase the underground water level; and more public hunting and fishing grounds, to "put more game in the hunters bag" and give fishermen a bigger "catch."

Stratton Reveals Purchase of Farm As Investment and Place to Relax

SPRINGFIELD — Gov. William G. Stratton says he has acquired a 360-acre farm as a place to relax and an investment.

The farm is in rolling hill country on the Sangamon River, about eight miles northwest of here. Stratton said he bought it for $62 an acre, or a total of about $22,000, last year.

Most of the land is thickly wooded. Stratton said he had 80 acres planted in corn, 25 in alfalfa, 20 in legumes and 10 in winter wheat this year, but actually only about one-fourth of the farm is suitable for crops.

Stratton now has five horses but no other livestock on the farm. However, he said he plans to buy a few head of cattle and eventually expects the farm will support a herd of 100 head.

The governor and his wife, Shirley, had a dozen newsmen as their guests at an outdoor dinner on the banks of the Sangamon Monday night. Guests broiled steaks and roasted corn over a roaring fire.

The only house on the farm has been renovated for a young couple who are Stratton's tenants and help till the farm. Stratton pointed out a site where he plans to build a cabin, on a bluff overlooking the Sangamon.

Stratton and his wife said the HOLLYWOOD —(NEA)— "The Gone With the Wind" revival is bringing back bitter memories to Paulette Goddard. Maybe you've never heard the story.

Ready to sign for the role of Scarlett O'Hara after a sensational film test, she was watching the burning of Atlanta—the first sequence filmed—when she noticed another beautiful doll standing on the sidelines.

"Who is that?" asked Paulette. An assistant director winced and said:

"Some British actress named Vivien Leigh. She's testing for Scarlett tomorrow. Don't worry, kid."

Now it can be told that at one time Jess Barker was considered for a role in a current film hit. I wonder what would have happened if RKO hadn't decided he wasn't the type. The film was "Susan Slept Here."

Bud Boetticher and Carroll Case called Ingrid Bergman an offer to star in their film, "The Number One." She called back that she would be delighted if the screenplay met with her approval, then added: "Of course, my husband, Roberto Rossellini, would have to direct the picture." Boetticher will direct so Ingrid won't be reading the script.

JUDY ERWIN, 19-year-old daughter of June Collyer and Stu Erwin, is in town for a bigger reason than to watch mom and dad emote in "The Stu Erwin Show."

Judy's out for a career as an actress and has the blessings of her parents.

Blow the trumpets — the Gabor sisters are in the center ring again. Zsa Zsa plays a trapeze star with Martin and Lewis in "Three Ring Circus" and now Eva Gabor will be a lion tamer in a new Broadway play.

Barney Dean, the gag writer, returned to the "Eddie Foy Story" set after two weeks in the hospital. Raving about the beautiful nurses, food and service, he told Bob Hope:

"If you can afford it, you should get sick."

THE NAME OF "Biff Towne" pops up as a prize fighter in Jack Webb's feature length "Dragnet." Any connection with girl friend Dorothy Towne? Jean Cocteau, whose surrealist movies have coined a mint in the art houses, is seriously ill in Paris. Now there's a sister, Angie, in the Liberace-George act. She's taken over as their secretary. Mocambo ring-siders fiddled with their swizzle-sticks and tried not to look embarrassed when Vera-Ellen and Carlos Thompson picked the night spot for a fast and furious quarrel.

Johnnie Ray sliced off some of the luscious green he collected for his stint in "There's No Business Like Show Business" to pay for college scholarships for deaf students.

Debra Paget and her mother, Maggie Griffen, have asked governmental permission to bring Anna Maria Paredes, a 14-year-old Mexican orphan, into the U. S. for adoption when Debra winds up "White Feather" in tamaleland. The child was working as a chambermaid in a Mexican hotel when Debra took her under her wing.

BRYAN FOY, the producer, is dating Arthur Murray teacher Kay Abbott, who is Walter Pidgeon's favorite rumba tutor. . . . Concession from Errol Flynn, no longer No. 1 on the headline parade: "Don't say I've reformed — say I've learned discretion."

Marilyn Monroe is popping her orbs over one scene in the movie version of "The Seven-Year Itch." It calls for her to get stuck in a bathtub. . . . Dan Dailey is consulting lawyers again about the failure of his ex-wife, Liz, now Mrs. Hudson McGuire of Leavenworth, Kans., to show up in Hollywood for a showdown on the custody of Dan, Jr. The lad is with his mother.

Visitor to the "Carmen Jones" set watched Dorothy Dandridge's hip movements, then turned to his friend to say:

"That reminds me. I must stop by the bookstore and pick up an 'Uncle Wiggly' book for Junior."

THE STORY: Private Detective Jim Dunn, working as an investigator for Mrs. Kit Carlson, has driven with Nancy, his wife, to the summer estate of the wealthy Carlson family in Colorado where they will pose as caretakers for his client. Stopping for keys, Dunn finds that he has not been given one to open the gate. As he shouts at the gate, a young man appears.

IV
A handsome man in his early twenties, tanned so deep his fair hair looked white was smiling at Jim.
"We want in," Jim said.
"No can do. Sorry. You have to have a key."
Jim picked at the binding chain, let the links fall back with a clatter. "We've come to open a place called The Spires. I understand ingress and egress to the place goes with the deed. My boss bought the place. I can show you the deed."
The smile broadened. "Sorry. I can't read. You own a place in here, or have reason to come in, you should have a key."
"So I should," Jim admitted.

"Funny how it could have jumped off the wire like that."
"Very funny. Go away and don't bother me."

Jim took a flashlight from his jacket pocket, turned the powerful beam overhead. It did not take long to locate the double wires which led directly to the small cabin. "All the modern conveniences, like phones. And how is my good friend, Toby Argyle?"
The same smile stayed on the young man's face. "I don't know what you're talking about." He used a tone of voice which made it perfectly clear he was lying.
"You could save me trouble by unlocking the gate," Jim said mildly.

For a moment the young man's smile thinned still more. He tried to shade his eyes so he could see past the glare of the lights. He said, "Can't do it," and walked away.
Jim got back in the jeep.
"Home again?" Nancy asked.
He opened the glove compartment, put his gun on his lap.
"Nope. Maybe Handsome thinks so. But that chain didn't look too strong to me." He eased the station wagon forward in drive, pushed the bumper gently against the gate.

The young man appeared again in the headlights. He had his mouth open to yell.
Jim gunned the motor. Tires spun and squealed. The whole gate bulged. The chain snapped, whirled off through the trees. Both sections of the gate flung back with the suddenness of their release.

Jim stopped when the jeep was still a few feet from the young guardian of the gate.
"Too bad the chain fell off," Jim said.
The smile was still on the man's face as he stepped quickly from the light, vanished in the shadows and darkness under the trees.

About an eighth of a mile from the gate, the road divided into three even narrower ways. A finger pointing signboard indicated the left-hand trail as leading to The Spires. Dunn made the turn automatically, before he remembered and slammed on the brakes.
"Let's take a look at that map again. Seems to me we should be going more in that right-hand direction."

A combination of dash light and flash showed the turn clearly, the right-hand fork as Jim had remembered. He left his gun with Nancy as he got out and walked on ahead, using the flashlight sparingly. He did not have far to go, only around the next blind curve.

A cattle guard was under construction. At least rails were neatly piled near-by. But at the present a four-foot ditch cut across the narrow road, a ditch partly filled with rushing water.
Jim Dunn felt his anger begin to boil at the pit of his stomach. Even allowing for the crawl to make the blind curve, there would have been a severe jolt.

He walked slowly back to the jeep, flashing his light into the dense undergrowth along each side of the road. He found the warning sign, left it where it lay, walked more quickly.
"You better take the gun," Nancy said.
"Something?"
"I think so. Some sort of sound back where the roads forked. Metal scraping on metal it sounded like to me."

Jim started to back the station wagon into the narrow opening which would permit a turn. He stopped again, got out and used the flash carefully. "No bets missed," he muttered. He pulled the strands of old-fashioned wire with their wicked inch-and-a-half barbs aside, got back in and turned quickly.

"I have a smart husband," Nancy said. "What made you think there might be something there?"
"Only place to turn," Jim muttered.

They reached the forks of the road. "Look, Jim. The sign. It's pointing in the right direction now."
Jim did not slow up. "Probably the noise you heard. A heavy wrench on that metal standard to turn it. I'll bet we'd find the dirt loosened around its base."

"Not stopping to look?"
"Not me," Jim said firmly. "Maybe we're supposed to stop there. Or at least if we didn't have to stop before to fix a few flat tires."

"Delaying tactics?" Nancy asked.
Jim thought of the ditch again, but with more of a chill than with anger. "Maybe."

Report Drop in Illinois Traffic Deaths

SPRINGFIELD — The State Highway Division today reported a 10 per cent drop in Illinois traffic deaths last month.

The division said 181 persons were killed on the highways compared to 200 in August, 1953. There now have been 1,284 deaths in the first eight months of 1954, compared with 1,343 in the same 1953 period.

The report said if the rate does not increase Illinois may reverse an upward trend in annual fatalities for the first time since 1949.
